a. EU NAVFOR Somalia returns to-person capacity building activities with Somali Security Force

After a long period of COVID-19 imposed restrictions, ATALANTA received members of the Somali Police Unit and Maritime Police Unit of Mogadishu on board ESPS Victoria to receive training in maritime skills. Organised with the support of EU CAP Somalia, this vital training enhances local capability in maintaining maritime security.

b. Carrier Strike Group leaves India with traditional cheer ship farewell

After the week of engagement and exercising with the Indian Armed Forces, the Carrier Strike Group saw no "better way to say goodbye" than with a traditional cheer ship. The UK and India have been working with countries in the region to defend their shared democratic values and tackle emerging threats – including cyber and maritime security.

c. Connecting the dots: Gulf-based naval overwatch helps secure 'A to B' commercial shipping transits

The Northern Indian Ocean region hosts some of the world's most critical maritime trade routes. Sea lines of communication (SLOCs) crisscross the region, connecting East and West and linking key energy supplies from the Persian Gulf. Both the U.S. and U.K. have long-established constructs set up to provide primary points of contact with the merchant shipping community- the Naval Cooperation and Guidance for Shipping (NCAGS) for the U.S. and the U.K. Maritime Trade Organisation (UKMTO) for the U.K.

d. UAE's foreign policy: from militias in the Rimland to Straits diplomacy

Maritime security plays a key role in the UAE's recalibration of its foreign policy, particularly in the Bab al-Mandab region. The straits diplomacy embodies the transfer of Emirati policy from spreading power to protecting influence. UAE's straits diplomacy focuses on three maritime straits – Hormuz, Bab al-Mandeb, and Suez – and combines three interdependent policy dimensions: maritime security presence, pragmatic and institutional dialogue on maritime security, and geo-economic investments around critical waterways.

e. Navy task force completes first unmanned at sea integration exercise

U.S. Naval Forces Central Command is leading the way as the Navy tests out new operational concepts for unmanned surface vessels in front-line operations. During the two-day training exercise, Task Force 59 integrated and evaluated new MANTAS T-12 unmanned surface vessels that operated alongside manned U.S. patrol craft and Bahrain Defense Force maritime assets

f. India, UK conduct mega tri-services wargame in Arabian Sea

India and the UK have carried out a series of complex military drills as part of a tri-services wargame in the Arabian Sea, billed as the most ambitious exercise by the two countries ever. The UK's Carrier Strike Group (CSG) led by its largest warship HMS Queen Elizabeth and several other frontline ships of the two navies participated in the week-long 'Konkan Shakti' exercise.
